2. General information

As part of our ongoing product maintenance and optimization, we have decided to remove certain items from our product range. These products have only been in low demand in the past, meaning that it is not economically viable to continue manufacturing and maintaining them. Instead, we will be focusing our resources on expanding our product range in line with current customer needs and new technologies.

Of course, we will ensure that you continue to have access to high-performance solutions: we offer suitable alternatives with comparable functionality for all affected items. We will be happy to assist you in selecting and integrating the appropriate replacement product.
