Persistent, Bioaccumulative, and Toxic (PBT) Chemicals under TSCA Section 6(h)

As required under the Toxic Substances Control Act (TSCA), as amended by the Frank R. Lautenberg Chemical Safety for the 21st Century Act, EPA issued five final rules in December 2020 to reduce exposures to certain chemicals that are persistent, bioaccumulative and toxic (PBT). These chemicals build up in the environment over time and can therefore have potential risks for exposed populations, including the general population, consumers and commercial users, and susceptible subpopulations (such as workers, subsistence fishers, tribes and children).

Detmold, 23.01.2023

Weidmüller is fully aware of the regulatory framework and a comprehensive process have been installed regarding this legislation, with a detailed risk assessment and usage assessment. We do not add the regulated substances to our products or processes. Furthermore, we have conducted a corresponding supplier enquiry and received numerous responses. So far there is no indication that the substances are intentionally added. No own laboratory tests have been carried out. In future, the TSCA requirement will also be included in our "Weidmüller Environmental Guideline for Suppliers", which will secure these requirements.
